

REGIONAL DISPARITIES

Abitibi-Témiscamingue

Breaks in services, acute labour shortages, unfilled positions, skyrocketing use of independent workers – the situation in Abitibi-Témiscamingue is a disaster, both for people living in the region and for health and social services employees.

An 8% retention premium already exists for some localities. Let's give it to health and social services workers in Abitibi-Témiscamingue!

If engineers working for the transportation ministry get a premium for coming to work with us, then surely a premium should also be given to people who have been working for years, using every last ounce of their strength, to hold the health and social services system together.

Another great initiative to attract personnel would be to make Northern leave without pay available to people who would like to work in Abitibi-Témiscamingue. Setting up a regional committee on workforce issues is also an excellent idea.

What is the government waiting for? We need action here and now. It's urgent!
